

Abstract:

The present invention relates to precipitated silicas which have extremely low microporosity and high rubber activity, to a process for their preparation, and to 5 their use as filler for rubber mixtures.